Alex Pillay is an impressive bowling all-rounder from Gauteng, South Africa.

The talented 22-year-old is a right-arm off-spin bowler and technically sound right-hand middle order batter who currently plays club cricket for Nirvana. Pillay also plays representative cricket for Provincial side Limpopo Impalas in the Cricket South Africa (CSA) Division 2.

A product of the Titans academy back in 2019/2020, Alex is a pathway player who made his professional debut for the Limpopo Impalas in 2021; scoring a half-century on debut in the CSA four-day Domestic Series. In the preceding month the tweaker made his list A debut and has remained a part of the Limpopo Impalas during the current 2023/24 season. The South African has recently gone on to make his First-Class debut against South Western Districts back in December 2023.

Pillay developed a passion for cricket from a very young age and continues to making the sport his main priority. A hard-working individual who has enjoyed scholarships for his cricketing ability during the early stages of his career, Alex now see's a UK stint key to securing his future in the professional game.

We see this exceptional young all-rounder as a player who will contribute match-winning performances on a regular basis for his chosen club in 2024.
