Zain Ul Abidin is a talented spin bowling all rounder currently playing international cricket for Saudi Arabia.

A front line left arm spinner and middle order batter, Zain has been a mainstay in the national team for the last few years. He made his international T20 debut in October 2021, picking up economical figures of 1/18 from his 4 over allocation as Saudi Arabia cruised to a victory against Maldives. In his most recent outing for his country, he proved his all round ability, smashing 19 off just 9 balls as he tried to chase down the UAE total of 162. His team fell short but this innings gave an insight in to his power hitting ability.

At the time of writing, Zain has 32 all format international wickets, with a best of 5/6 against Bhutan as his team won by a massive 166 runs. He is an economical bowler who rarely goes at more than 5 or 6 an over in T20 international cricket.

Zain is now keen to pursue options overseas and is targeting a season as a professional in Europe to showcase his all round abilities. His skill set is normally just the ticket for club cricket and he represents an exciting option for any club in 2025.
